

FARMERS FORM
COMMUNITY CLUBSOrganizations Are Perfected at Gagen, Pine Lake and Tomahawk Lake(By W. D. Juday, County Representative)

Community organizations of farmers and farmers' families have been formed at Gagen, Pine Lake and Tomahawk Lake, and it might be well for other communities of the county to examine the work of these already existing societies to see whether it might not be profitable to organize themselves into similar orders.

The object of these organizations is community betterment. Meetings are held at the school house of the district, and a program is given by the different members. Some speaker such as the County Superintendent, Principal of the Training School or County Representative, is invited to give a talk on some subject of vital interest to the community.

The County Representative has attended two of these meetings in the past two weeks, one at Pine Lake, the other at Tomahawk Lake. The new school house was filled at each 865 shots a minute and penetrate meeting. After the talk questions were asked and interesting discussions followed. The young people were especially interested in these meetings which shows that they are anxious to learn all they can about the business of farming. All farmers should strive to improve their methods of farming, and an exchange of ideas is beneficial to all. One J. man working in a community can do little towards its betterment, but with his neighbors striving toward that end, good results can be realized.

Anything that will help to make farming more agreeable, more attractive, and more profitable, should be strongly encouraged. If gotten up in the right spirit community meetings will do all of these things.
There is no limit to the good a community can do, when all of its people are working together. Other rural communities can get together like the three above mentioned, and start a series of meetings with substantial programs which will add greatly to the welfare of the whole county.

LET CONTRACT FOR
W. & N. GRADING

Advices from Crandon state that the contract to cut the right-of-way and grade a gap of twenty-eight miles of the Wisconsin & Northern railway, between Crandon and Van Ostrand, has been awarded to Pete Nelson, a Minneapolis man.

Mr. Nelson will begin work on the grading at Crandon and according to conditions of the contract must have it completed by the middle of next September. A large crew of men will be given employment on the job.

TWO YARD CREWS

Another indication of good times and the return of prosperity is given by the Northwestern railway company in this city. Beginning last Monday, two switch engines are now in operation in the local yards of the company. Heretofore one engine has handled all the work in Rhinelander, but with the increase of freight traffic two yard crews are necessary.
These crews are obliged to labor early and late and there is even talk that a third engine may be put in to service.

Robert Hampton of Ironwood is switching in the local Northwestern railway yards.

GUARDSMEN WILL STUDY WARFARE

Methods of warfare as now are being conducted in Europe will be studied by officers of the Wisconsin National guard, who will hold their annual convention in the Auditorium next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Capt. Robert H. Westcott of the United States army infantry will be one of the principal instructors. Observations taken in the European war by American military attaches in Europe will be used by the guard officers for instructing the members.
For the first time since the guard's history the Wisconsin naval reserve will be represented. Lieutenant Commander Theodore W. Werder and Lieut. Henry Britschner, both of Ashland, will represent the reserve.
Gen. Orlando Holway and Maj.
John G. Balsman will preside. Reports regarding the work of the different organizations will be submitted by the officers. Brig. Gen. Charles King will attend. Maj. Gilbert E.
Seaman will read a paper on "First Aid on the Field."

A matter of importance to the Wisconsin guard will be the handling of the new machine guns that are due to arrive soon. Each of the sixteen school houses was filled at each 865 shots a minute and penetrate
meeting. After the talk questions were asked and interesting discussions followed. The young people were especially interested in these meetings which shows that they are anxious to learn all they can about
the business of farming. All farmers should strive to improve their methods of farming, and an exchange of ideas is beneficial to all. One J.
man working in a community can do
little towards its betterment, but
with his neighbors striving toward
that end, good results can be realized.

Military headquarters will be established at the St. Charles hotel.

THINK WOODSMAN
WAS MURDERED

Tuesday the authorities here were notified that a dead man had been picked up by the log train crew three miles from Phelps at 10:30 Monday night. Sheriff Hall, Dist. Atty. Wegand and Coroner Gaffney left that afternoon to investigate the circumstances surrounding his death.

They ascertained that the corpse was that of David Kato, a Finlander, 49 years of age who had lived and worked at Phelps for the past six years. Working in Camp 12 this winter he spent Monday in town and camp about nine o'clock using the log-road as is customary with the camp employees. The train struck and ran over him but examination later, could not determine whether a gash in his throat was made then or earlier by foul means. It was not known just how much money he carried but when found only a dollar or so was on his person and a watch he was seen to have while in town was missing. A coroner's jury of six men was impeached to view the remains and supposed scene of death and after so doing rendered a verdict that he was murderously assaulted before being struck by the train but did not name any person or persons as suspected of the crime. So it will likely go down in history as another of those mysterious deaths that so frequently befall woodsmen.

John Moen left Wednesday night for Milwaukee.

SON'S BODY MAY BE IN MADISON

Grand Rapids Woman Believes
Man Killed Near Here
Was Her Boy

Firm in the belief that an unknown woodsman, who was killed by a Soo line train near Woodboro Christmas day, was her long lost son, Frank Brosowicz, Mrs. J. Brosowicz of Grand Rapids, Wis., spent Friday in Rhinelander obtaining particulars regarding the man's death. Mrs. Bros-owicz came here with the expectation of viewing the body and was disappointed to learn that it had been shipped to the medical department of Wisconsin University.

Mrs. Brosowicz claims that the man, who was found dead on the Soo tracks near Woodboro Christmas morning, answers the description of her son, Frank, who has been missing from home many months. When she last heard from her boy he was working in northern Wisconsin, somewhere in this vicinity. Three weeks ago she read in a Milwaukee newspaper that an unidentified man had been killed near Rhinelander and immediately she became imbued with the feeling that the victim was her son. She communicated with Chief of Police Straub and he forwarded her a description of the dead man.
So minutely did the description tally with that of her son that Mrs. Bros-owicz feels positive that it was her boy who was killed.

According to the law bodies sent to Wisconsin University medical school must be kept sixty days before dissecting. If the train victim actually proves to be her son, Mrs. Brosow-icz can yet recover the body if she so desires.

TO MEET DOREY

Billy Perkins has signed articles for a match with Joe Dorey, the Marquette middleweight, as the main event of a boxing card in that city February 3. The boys will weigh in at 162 pounds at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of the fight. Perkins is in training at the Armory gym and invites the fans to his afternoon work-outs.

Dorey is comparatively a new man in the fist game, but is said to have all the ear marks of a comer. He recently defeated Al Worgin in Marquette. Perkins, it will be remembered, also won out over Worgin not long ago.

Tuesday the local boy received the following note from a Marquette admirer: "We look for a classy scrap, Bill, as you and Joe are evenly matched and ought to give the boys for their money's worth. There promises to be a big crowd for the town is hungry for a good fight."

WILL MOVE TO CITY
F. F. Frusher, manager for the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company for the district comprising Langlade, Forest, Oneida and Vilas counties, was in the city Tuesday.
It was his first visit here in fifteen years and he could not help but express his surprise at the progress which the city has made during that time. Mr. Frusher will make Rhinelander his headquarters and will move his family here from Madison in June.

HANS RODD NEW
UNDER-SHERIFF

Sheriff Charles S. Crofoot has named Hans Rodd, an old resident and well known clothing merchant of this city, as his under-sheriff.

Mr. Rodd's appointment to this office is received with general satisfaction. His long residence in this city and county have gained for him large acquaintance. The duties connected with the sheriff's office are by no means new to him as up until the time of his new appointment he filled the position of deputy-at-large.
He is well qualified for the under-sheriff's work and will undoubtedly prove an excellent officer. Mr. Rodd will devote practically all his time to his office and commenced his service Friday.

SOON TO ENLARGE
THE MAJESTIC

Work on remodeling and enlarging the Majestic theater in this city will be commenced in the early spring, according to the announcement of the proprietor, H. C. Zander.
Mr. Liebert, a well known Wausau architect, was in the city Monday inspecting the theater preparatory to arranging plans and specification for the contemplated improvements.

Mr. Zander states that it is his intention to convert the Majestic into a moving picture theater and play house combined, with a seating capacity of 750 to 800. The stage will be enlarged sufficiently to permit the presentation of first class theatrical productions. The house will be remodeled and redecorated, and furnished with new equipment throughout.

"I intend to give to Rhinelander a theater in which the best traveling companies on the road can be accommodated," said Mr. Zander. "The stage will be big enough for all purposes and the public will have the opportunity of witnessing plays on the ground floor in perfect comfort and safety."

The death of little Alex McKinstry the eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Orin McKinstry, of Monico, occurred Monday morning at 11:30 at the hospital, this city, where he was taken Saturday night.

Funeral services were held at the school house Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Jenkins of Rhinelander. The pall bearers were Byron Meagher, Henry Roughan, Ned Nicolas and Marvin

FLAMBEAU BRAVES
LOSE IN BATTLE

Rhinelanders Highs Too Much
For Red Skins In Basket Ball Game

The game between the high school and the Indians, last Friday, night, while it was not a walk away, resulted in an easy victory for our boys. The score was thirty to ten, in favor of Rhinelander. The Indians, who are extremely quick on their feet, and remarkably skillful in catching and passing the ball, were greatly handicapped by their inability to find the basket. They are used to playing in a gymnasium with a low ceiling, and with baskets a foot and a half lower than ours. A little roughness marked part of the game, but all was taken in good part. While one of the Indians, Ben Jackson, was attempting to wrest the ball from an opponent's hand, he dislocated his own arm at the shoulder. He had the same experience at home several weeks ago. Drs. Bennett and Richards reduced the dislocation and the young man went home with his fellows. Coach Webster of Lac du Flambeau who was refereeing the game at the time said that no blame could be attached to any one for the accident. The Indian boys and their coach, Mr. L. E. Webster, are a bunch of manly, likeable fellows, and we shall be glad to see them on our floor again at any time. Mrs. Webster accompanied her husband, bringing their small son, Earl, who made many friends while he was here.

School Notes
Miss McCallin of the Central School force, was compelled to return home this week to suffer another operation upon the bones of her nose and jaw. We hope that she may return soon fully recovered. A letter from her tells us that the operation has been performed and the doctor promises that she may come back to her work soon.

While on a skiing expedition, Sunday, Mr. Schubert had a bad fall resulting in a sprained wrist, and fracture of the radius, the large bone in his right fore arm. The fracture was successfully reduced by Dr. E.
Hot, but Mr. Schubert feels it best to return to his home for a week.
His classes, Monday and Tuesday, were in charge of the high school boys. Wednesday, Mr. Strange from the Oshkosh Normal school took charge, and will remain here until Mr. Schubert returns, sometime next week.

Miss Worden of the First ward school is still carrying her left arm in a sling, because of a broken collar bone which resulted from a fall on the slippery walk crossing the viaduct. She was detained from school but a half day. Miss Helen Lewis taking her place for that time.
Mrs. L. A. Leadbetter is teaching the arithmetic class during Miss Mc-Callin's absence.

A very interesting lecture series of pictures of famous German cities and castles, and churches was shown at the Bijou at a matinee last Thursday, accompanied by a most virili-talk by Mr. B. Mack Dresden. The pictures were of especial interest coming at just this time, and Mr.
Dresden is without doubt, unusually fitted to give information along that line.

This series was followed by a con-reel film of Dickens' Christmas Carol, which was very much appreciated by the three hundred school pupils present.

Moving pictures are without doubt capable of being great educational aides, and we believe that our local schools are beginning to get this assistance from them, largely through the kindly efforts of Mr. Phillo, to whom the schools owe thanks for many favors.

Inspectors H. L. Terry and H. M.
Goddard of the State Superintendent's office visited classes in the high school Tuesday. At a teachers' meet-

WARREN V. REED
DIES IN CHICAGO

Prominent Citizen Is Stricken While On Way To Panama

The telegram from Chicago last Thursday afternoon conveying the shocking news of the sudden death of Warren V. Reed, veteran agent for the American Express company, and one of this city's old and highly esteemed residents, caused the most profound sorrow among his large circle of friends here. Seldom in this city has the sadness of death touched so many hearts. Mr. Reed passed away at 2:15 Thursday afternoon in the Iroquois hospital, Chicago, following a stroke of apoplexy on the streets of that city. He was on his way to Panama for his health, and one of the Indians, Ben Jackson, was attempting to wrest the ball from an opponent's hand, he dislocated his own arm at the shoulder. He had the same experience at home several weeks ago. Drs. Bennett and Richards reduced the dislocation and the young man went home with his fellows. Coach Webster of Lac du Flambeau who was refereeing the
game at the time said that no blame
could be attached to any one for the accident. The Indian boys and their coach, Mr. L. E. Webster, are a bunch of manly, likeable fellows, and we shall be glad to see them on our
floor again at any time. Mrs. Webster accompanied her husband, bringing their small son, Earl, who made many friends while he was here.

Mr. Reed's body arrived in this city Friday afternoon and was met at the Northwestern station by an escort of Elks. The funeral was conducted from the residence, 422 S. Pelham St., at 2:30 Sunday afternoon. Rev.
Fr. Casse had charge of the services.
Interment took place in St. Mary's cemetery, the Elks taking charge at the grave. The large number of friends who attended the funeral testified to the esteem in which decessed was held. There was a profusion of handsome floral tributes.

Particulars Of Death
W. C. Morgan, superintendent of the American Express Company in Milwaukee, received from W. A.
Naylor, manager of the company in Chicago, the following statement regarding Mr. Reed's death. A copy of this letter was forwarded to Mrs.
Reed in this city:

Confirming conversation over the telephone today, have to advise that Mr. Reed, enroute to Panama, had an Apoplectic stroke at 1:15 p. m. today, while walking along Adams Street, between Dearborn and State Streets—was picked up by Officer Wetzel of the Traffic Division and taken to the Iroquois Hospital, 23 N.
Market Street, in an ambulance. In charge of Officer Doyle and is in charge of Dr. McClay, Superintendent of the hospital, telephone Franklin 2075. Have just talked with two officers in person and with Dr. Mc-Clay over the telephone and he says Reed's condition is serious. Mr. Reed will be retained at the Iroquois Emergency Hospital until he is able to be moved and then taken to the West Side Hospital. Dr. McClay said he would let us know when done and also keep us informed as to Mr.
Reed's condition.

THE GOOD JUDGE KNOWS MR. TEAMSTER IS RIGHT

MEN don't hanker after a big wad that makes them grind and spit. What they want is the small chew that really satisfies—"Right-Cut," the Real Tobacco Chew. When they get it they are just eager to tell their friends about it too.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—cut fine; short shred—seasoned and sweetened just enough, cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is the Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary coarsely cut tobacco makes you spit too much.

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

"MRS. WIGGS OF CABBAGE PATCH"

Who that has read "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," can ever forget the death of "Tim"—a passing comparable in pathos to the end of Little Nell. As the brave boy and good son fares forth on the lonely way he murmurs of "the meaders and zrees laughin' all the time! Birds singin', singin'." Except for this tragic interlude nature laughs, to Mrs. Wiggs and the birds sing all ways and despite a neighborhood calculated to crush into despair all but the most resolute of optimists. But it doesn't crush Mrs. Wiggs, and the reasons why set forth in her own apt, inimitable way, coupled with vivid pictures of her now famous life in the Cabbage Patch, have made this play bearing her name the most prolific source of laughter, wholesome fun and occasional tears, on the stage today. Here is the very warp and woof of American life in mean street and the art of Mrs. Rice, the novelist, and of Mr. Flaxner, the dramatist, have combined to make flower with wit and jollity and charity and rollicking fun the dreary place that furnishes the local of this play. It will be long before there is another woman character of the stature of Mrs. Wiggs. She has seized

HOW TO CURE A CHRONIC COUGH

Told in the Following Letter, by a Jackson Man Who Knows from Experience. His Word Is Good.

Jackson, Miss.—"I am a carpenter, and the grippe left me not only with a chronic cough, but I was run-down, worn out and weak. I took all kinds of cough syrups but they did me no good. I finally got so weak I was not able to do a day's work, and coughed so much I was alarmed about my condition. One evening I read about Vinol and decided to try it. Before I had taken a quarter of a bottle I felt better, and after taking two bottles my cough is entirely cured, all the bad symptoms have disappeared and I have gained new vigor and energy."

—JOHN L. DENNIS, 711 Lynch Street, Jackson, Miss.

The reason Vinol is so successful in such cases is because the active medicinal principles of cod liver oil contained in Vinol rebuilds wasting tissues and supplies strength and vigor to the nerves and muscles while the tonic iron and wine assist the red corpuscles of the blood to absorb oxygen and distribute it through the system, thus restoring health and strength to the weakened, diseased organs of the body.

If Vinol fails to help you, we return your money.

upon the imagination of the nation and her wise sayings, couched in homely phrases, are a possession we would be loath to lose. In its dramatic form, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" ran for 150 performances in New York, 300 performances in London and a special company is now presenting the play in Australia. Grace Leth Hodgkins, Eileen Cosgriff and Howard Teachout and twenty others are included in the cast. "Mrs. Wiggs" will be presented here under the management of the United Play Company, at Grand Opera House, January 23.

MEMORIAL

Whereas the great and supreme ruler of the universe has in his infinite wisdom removed from among us one of our worthy and esteemed fellow members, George Marshall; and whereas the long and intimate relation held with him in the faithful discharge of his duties on this board makes it eminently befitting that we record our appreciation of him, therefore,

Resolved, that the wisdom and ability which he has exercised in the aid of our board by service and counsel will be held in grateful remembrance;

Resolved that the sudden removal of such a life from among our midst leaves a vacancy and a shadow that will be deeply realized by all the members and friends of this board, and will prove a serious loss to the community and the public.

Resolved that with deep sympathy with the bereaved relatives of the deceased we express our hope that even so great a loss to us all may be overruled for good by him who doeth all things well;

Resolved that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the records of this board, a copy printed in the local papers and a copy forwarded to the bereaved family.

The resolution was offered for passage by Supervisor Bernard N. Moran, seconded by Henry Wubker Sr. and passed unanimously, at a meeting of the County Board of Supervisors on January 12, 1915.

MEASLES
This is the season when parents should guard against measles. In this state over seven out of ten deaths, and a proportionate number of cases, occur in the first half of the calendar year, or from January to June.

NATURE:—Measles is a highly contagious disease, characterized by symptoms of a cold in the head and a rash which appears first upon cheeks and forehead. The general public and even many physicians underestimate the seriousness of measles, the complications of which make it one of the most dangerous of the eruptive fevers.

The contagion (the germ) has not yet been discovered. It is carried most commonly by discharges from the nose, and may be carried by a third person. One attack does not give absolute protection from further infection. Contrary to common belief, there may be even three or four attacks.

SYMPTOMS:—The disease begins (most commonly about fourteen days after infection) with symptoms of severe "cold in the head", sneezing, running nose, chilliness, cough, etc. The fever may rise as high as 104 degrees F.

The rash, beginning on cheeks and forehead in the form of red shotty dots, spreads to neck and chest. The general symptoms are prostrations may be very severe. The peeling usually begins two or three days after the rash appears.

COMPLICATIONS:—Measles itself rarely causes death. Complications however, of which broncho-pneumonia is the most common and the most dangerous, probably are frequently given credit for causing deaths really due to measles. Inflammation of throat and of middle ear and intestines may occur. Measles frequently paves the way for consumption.

DIAGNOSIS:—Measles is most likely to be confused with scarlet fever.

PREVENTION:—As in all contagious diseases of childhood, the patient should be completely quarantined. Handkerchiefs, bedding, clothing, etc., should be carefully handled and disinfected.

TREATMENT:—The patient should be confined to bed in a well ventilated room, well nursed, and carefully watched by a competent physician. The period of convalescence is the most important so far as the development of the dangerous after-effects is concerned.

The disease is absolutely preventable.

There was a dance in Harshaw in the new store building Saturday night for Dr. Perry with the new drill machine.

FOREST NOTES

Lodgepole pine, one of the principal trees of the Rocky Mountains, makes good strong wrapping paper and pulp board.

Osage orange wood is a source of dye and can be used to supplement the imported fustic wood, as a permanent yellow for textiles.

New print paper has been made by the forest service laboratory from 24 different woods, and a number compare favorably with standard spruce pulp wood.

The forest service is cooperating with 54 railroads, mining companies, pole companies, and cities in making tests of wooden ties, timbers, poles, piling, and paving blocks which have been given preservation treatments.

Recent sales by the government totaling 126,000,000 feet of saw timber in the Olympic national forest, in western Washington, mark the opening of this hitherto inaccessible storehouse of timber, estimated to contain a stand of 33 billion board feet.

AID TO MERCHANTS

A new post office ruling has just been made which will greatly assist local merchants in the circularizing of rural routes.

The scheme is that any local business man desiring to reach the rural residents by mail, may ascertain the number of boxes on each route, and mail a corresponding number of letters.

These letters will be numbered, and as the box bearing this number is reached, will be deposited by the rural carrier, without any address whatever. As this method is used by the carriers in their distribution, it will also assist them, besides doing away with a large amount of clerical work in the offices. This applies only to local merchants.

DOUBLY PROVEN

Rhinelanders Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence This Rhineland citizen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief—of undoubted benefit.

The facts are now confirmed.

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It furnishes convincing proof of merit.

Francis Rogers, cabinet maker, 730 Wabash St., Rhineland, says: "My back ached and I had pains through my kidneys. My kidneys were weak. I finally got Doan's Kidney Pills at Reardon's Drug Store and they gave me great relief." (Statement given November 1910.)

OVER TWO YEARS LATER, Mr. Rogers said: "I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills off and on since I recommended them and have always found good results. I think just as highly of them now as I did when I gave my former statement."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Rogers had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

REAL ESTATE MEN MEET
The Wisconsin association of Real Estate Brokers will have their annual meeting at Eau Claire, Wis., on 26 and 27 and it is expected that a large number of northern Wisconsin land owners and dealers will be present. Members of the association from Rhineland are C. P. Crosby, who by the way is 2nd vice president, B. L. Horr and Matt Stapleton. All land dealers and owners are invited to attend the meeting, and to learn the purposes and plans of the association, and to join it.

The Wisconsin Advancement Association, whose headquarters are in Milwaukee will have its annual meeting Feb. 2, at that city. This Association is entering upon its fifth year, and has been a remarkable factor in swinging the attention of the public upon the unoccupied lands of upper Wisconsin. There are quite a number of members in this city, several of whom will doubtless attend the meeting.

WHY THE RURAL CHILDREN ARE DRIFTING CITYWARD

(Recent Address Delivered by George H. Dawes)

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen: The subject under our consideration tonight is so comprehensive that a volume might be written upon it and then the subject not be exhausted. In the short time allotted for his discussion little more can be given than a suggestive outline. If the subject interests you more of the details can be supplied by yourselves.

For half a century or more the cities have been drawing heavily from the rural population. So much so that the movement is alarming.

People are crowding into the cities, generally making a precarious living while millions of acres of fertile lands are yet awaiting development. Farmers are finding it more and more difficult to secure competent farm help as the years go by.

There has gone up from every part of the country the cry of "back to the land" and yet the movement continues towards the cities.

We know that for every movement of man as a unit or collectively in society there is a cause or several causes. Men will not leave the free and natural life of the country for the conventional and artificial life of the city unless there are reasons for so doing.

A very moderate amount of thinking will convince us that the reason why the population is largely drifting towards the cities are:

1. School influences.
2. Home influences.
3. Social influences.
4. Economic influences.

It is not my purpose here tonight to try to convince you that the rural schools are wholly bad, that they are without any redeeming qualities. They have done and are now doing some useful work. But it is an admitted fact that the rural school stands today as the one great unsolved educational problem.

Education, at one time, stood wholly for mental and moral culture, but now the word education means adaptation. A bringing of the individual into harmony with his environment. This is not intended to fit the child that is born in the city to remain in the city. It is not intended to fit the child simply to follow his father's trade. But it does mean that the child's education should be directed with more practical results in view. It means that the eye and hand should be trained to meet our every day requirements, that the individual may be able to adjust himself to his environment. We may then, very properly ask, are the rural schools fulfilling their mission?

We recognize this principle that may be regarded as a psychological axiom, that children think in terms of the things with which they are daily associated. If, then, they are compelled to think in terms foreign to their environment, one of two things must be the result. Either they drive them into a different environment or you retard their progress.

If children are compelled to think constantly in terms of banking, discount and percentages, it is inevitable that they will want to pursue vocations along those lines. There is no more reason that what a child learns of the rudiments of arithmetic should be almost wholly in terms of commercial exchanges than in terms of the farm.

In fact the whole tendency of the school room has been to drive children away from the farm and into commercial or professional pursuits.

All the examples of men of note—the characters held up to the children as ideals of wisdom, goodness or greatness are men found in commerce or warriors, statesmen or professional men.

Children are early taught of the greatness of Washington as a general or a statesman and of Jefferson as a statesman but how many of them can tell you that Washington and Jefferson were also farmers?

The sentiment is rapidly gaining ground that if we would keep more children on the farms we must change much of the language of the text books and that more of the ideals be taught, that the efforts be directed, more heretofore, to the advantages and beauties of rural life. We must, in fact, ruralize the rural school.

A growing conviction prevails that the rural teacher requires an education somewhat different from the city teacher. She should have the same work and little pay on the farm, is training in psychology and pedagogy. The subject under our consideration tonight is so comprehensive that a volume might be written upon it and then the subject not be exhausted. If we turn from the school to the home we find that parents have to often encouraged children to get an education so they can be relieved of work. They have, unconsciously and unintentionally been taught to look upon manual labor as beneath the dignity of an educated and a cultured gentleman.

That education, whether acquired at school or at home, is a false and pernicious education that makes an individual feel ashamed of his hands, shows signs of labor or ashamed of being seen in clothes adapted to his work.

Children should be taught that education makes a man more efficient in any walk of life; that labor is honorable and dignified; that man may be cultured; that he may be able to demonstrate Euclid's fifth proposition and read Caesar in the original and yet be able to shoe a horse or hold a plow. But instead of that the school and home sentiment has prevailed that it requires little thought or education to run a farm. Consequently bright Willie I sent to college to prepare for some of the professions while dull John I kept at home on the farm, chafing under the impression that fate is hard on him and he, too, soon abandons the farm for city life.

Both at home and at school children should be taught that rural life has advantages as well as the city. That if men of greatest culture and wealth are found in the cities we also find there the greatest ignorance and poverty.

Social Influences
In social life the child sees the contrasts between rural and city life. The country is dull and tame while the city is bustle, excitement and gaiety.

The rural child sees people of more easy manners, more stylishly dressed and apparently taking more ease in life. The school in which the rural child has received his limited education, the little chapel in the woods where he has attended religion, the child simply to follow his father's services do not impress him as the grand and costly structures devoted to the same purposes in the city.

The country boys and girls do not feel the broadening influences of city should be trained to meet our every day requirements, that the individual may be able to adjust himself to his environment. We may then, very properly ask, are the rural schools fulfilling their mission?

We recognize this principle that may be regarded as a psychological axiom, that children think in terms of the things with which they are daily associated. If, then, they are compelled to think in terms foreign to their environment, one of two things must be the result. Either they drive them into a different environment or you retard their progress.

If children are compelled to think constantly in terms of banking, discount and percentages, it is inevitable that they will want to pursue vocations along those lines. There is no more reason that what a child learns of the rudiments of arithmetic should be almost wholly in terms of commercial exchanges than in terms of the farm.

In fact the whole tendency of the school room has been to drive children away from the farm and into commercial or professional pursuits.

All the examples of men of note—the characters held up to the children as ideals of wisdom, goodness or greatness are men found in commerce or warriors, statesmen or professional men.

Children are early taught of the greatness of Washington as a general or a statesman and of Jefferson as a statesman but how many of them can tell you that Washington and Jefferson were also farmers?

The sentiment is rapidly gaining ground that if we would keep more children on the farms we must change much of the language of the text books and that more of the ideals be taught, that the efforts be directed, more heretofore, to the advantages and beauties of rural life. We must, in fact, ruralize the rural school.

A growing conviction prevails that the rural teacher requires an education somewhat different from the city teacher. She should have the same work and little pay on the farm, is work and little pay on the farm. Is it any wonder the country boy drifts into the city? For whatever we may say of the causes underlying this movement, man, like every other object in nature, follows the line of least resistance.

As the Pathfinder pertinently remarked that when the average man can see the same profits with as little work in farming as he can in other pursuits there will be no need of this cry of "back to the land" for men will go back to the land without any advice from any one. In the pursuit of wealth men will generally follow such lines of business in which he believes the greatest profits are found.

If this subject were left in this manner it might seem discouraging but there is a way of escape from this "cause of discouragement. We must bear in mind the fact that many of these supposed advantages in the cities are more fanciful than real. It is only the few that acquire much wealth. The greater number find the struggle for existence harder in the city than in the country. There is less of freedom of individual action, a less number of holidays and less of the necessities, to say nothing of the luxuries of life, in the city than in the country. The average conditions of the people in the cities is less favorable for happiness than in the country.

One of the chief reasons why there is so much drudgery and so little profit in farming is because we have known little of scientific farming. We have not known how to obtain a maximum of products and yet keep up soil fertility. We have known little of farm and household economy. It has been shown that the teaching of scientific agriculture and household economy in our schools is having a tendency to keep the boys and girls on the farms.

One example of this will suffice. Before these subjects were introduced into one of the principal schools of Iowa the question was asked the students if their desires were for farm life and more than ninety-five per cent of both boys and girls wished to leave the farm. After these subjects had been taught for three years the same question was asked and it was found that ninety-five per cent wished to stay on the farm.

I cannot impress upon you too strongly the importance of creating in the mind of the child rural ideals. In whatever occupation a man follows, if he has in mind an ideal to reach he pursues his occupation with earnestness and enthusiasm.

Without an ideal to reach any occupation is drudgery and is followed without ambition and without happiness.

We have an example in Langlade county of a man who has had for many years an ideal potato in mind and after years of painstaking selection of seed that came nearer to his ideal he has now practically reached his ideal and he is now rewarded both in happiness and profits in his pursuits and Follstad's strain of Rural New Yorkers' potatoes, grown a few miles from here at Elcho has a state and nation wide reputation.

VIOLIN LESSONS
Some very good reasons why it pays to invest in the right kind of violin lessons. You want results. The Minneapolis Times 1889 had this to say of an 8 year old pupil: "The latest acquisition to Minneapolis musicians is the 8 year old violinist Arthur Lamotte of Wausau, Wis. who appeared on the Easter program at Lyndale Congregational Church. The little fellow completely carried his audience with him and he received long and hearty applause and many encouraging compliments at the close of the program. He has received his instruction from his father who is a pupil of Jules Hone and Robt. Gruenwald." —Lessons 50c and $1.00 j14-21

Same Old Referee, "Irregardless." At a smoker given by an athletic club in Kansas City recently, at which several lively boxing bouts were the chief attraction, the master of ceremonies announced: "There has been some criticisms made about the decision of the referee at the last smoker. But I want to say the same referee will continue to act, irregardless of them aspersions."—Kansas City Star.

THE NEW NORTH.

THE NEW NORTH PRINTING CO.
JANUARY 21, 1915.

Entered at the Postoffice at Rhinelander, Wis., as Second Class Mail Matter

January weather has not been half bad in northern Wisconsin thus far.

Are you a booster? Of course you are.

One good way to show that you believe in the future of Rhinelander is to invest your money here.

It is good to know that the winter will be a profitable one for the loggers.

There is no limit to possibilities for the future for the man who buys a farm in Oneida county.

J. J. Remo has the right idea. A sign in his office window reads, "Why talk war, come in and talk land."

Every dollar spent with Rhinelander merchants will return to you through other channels.

Senator W. T. Stevens has been named as chairman on one of the important senate committees, that of state affairs.

Judge Smith of municipal court believes in giving every man a chance. That's why he has such success in dealing with offenders in his court.

Although Wisconsin has already done her share for the European war sufferers she continues in the relief work with as much zest as ever.

Assemblyman B. N. Moran of this district has been appointed chairman of the legislative committee on fish and game by Speaker Whitte.

Mr. Merchant, you may have the best and finest goods manufactured or produced, but how do you expect your patrons and the buyers to know about them if you do not advertise?

Billy Sunday says that Milwaukee is a hell hole. Fortunately for Milwaukee, however, there are a few people in these United States who fail to believe everything the strenuous Billy says.

PLEASING TO MR. GRIFFITH

The report of the forestry committee is all that Griffith could have asked in spite of the fact that the people of this community were assured by the committee that they would be well satisfied when the report was made. While many of us have been in favor of a reasonable forestry, things begin to look as though we would be driven over to the other extreme if it were within the power of Senator Tompkins and his co-workers to dictate the destiny of this part of the state. Men should live up to their word in these matters and promise nothing that they do not intend to carry out. Many hoped that things would be settled by the committee report satisfactory to all of us but such is not the case and now we believe this report will drive many to the other extreme. Two years have passed since the real fight began against the Griffith policy by this section of country and still the poor towns containing forestry land have as yet received not a dollar of aid in bearing local burdens. For the good of a reasonable forestry we believe its so-called friends have been its greatest enemies. In spite of our belief in the proposition of a state forestry we stand squarely for the best good of our own county.

PLANT SHOWS PROFIT

Manitowoc, Wis., Jan. 8.—Manitowoc's municipal lighting plant turned a profit of $27,000 for the city during the year from Jan. 1, 1913, to Jan. 1, 1914, according to Mayor Stolze who submitted unofficial reports to the council upon the earning powers of the plant. The mayor said that the figures did not take account of depreciation and some other items and the official report will probably cut the amount materially, it being estimated that depreciation alone must be figured at $7,000 or more.

On January 1, this year, there had been collected $49,000 for light plant revenues with an additional $21,000 to be collected for the present quarter and December which is included in the year brings the total to $70,000 which represents the gross revenues of the plant said the mayor.

Expenditures for maintenance, including labor, fuel, etc., totaled $23,600 and with $6,700 for interest charges, $2,800 for taxes, makes a total expense of $33,100 for the year to which the mayor said would be added $700 spent in extensions, as permanent improvements, and some other items, the figures given showing a balance for the plant of $37,400. Mr. Stolze said probably this would be reduced to $27,000.

OLD AGE NO BAR TO SUCCESS

Let no old man who reads these pages despair of high achievement. Charles W. Elliott is 50 years old. James Burrill Angell is 56 years old. Ella Flagg Young is 69 years old. Cardinal Gibbons is 79 years old. Joseph H. Choate is 82 years old. But why multiply instances? It is an epoch of old men in places of power or influence. Andrew Carnegie is 78 years old. Frederic Harrison is 82 years old. William Winter is 77 years old. Count Zeppelin is 75 years old. Henry Waterson is 73 years old. Wilfred Laurier is 73 years old. Joseph G. Cannon is 76 years old. Must we multiply yet further? Admiral Dewey is 76 years old. General Miles is 74 years old. Captain Mahan is 73 years old. Thomas A. Edison is 67 years old. William Dean Howells is 77 years old. John D. Rockefeller is 74 years old. It is all very well to talk about the splendid work of men in the thirties and forties. The men of power today are in their sixties and seventies and eighties. Speaker Clark is 64 years old. Senator Root is 69 years old. Most of these men are really not old. They do a day's work every day. Their heads are clear. Their conduct and speech have the wisdom of years. It is a gloriously good time to be old.—School Journal.

MURPHY GAINS ONLY ONE VOTE

Recount in Sheriff Contest is Completed At Noon To-Day

As a final result of the recount proceedings instituted by James Murphy, democratic candidate for sheriff at the recent election, against Chas. S. Crofoot, the victorious republican candidate, Murphy gained one vote. The recount began before Judge A. E. Reid in this city at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon and was completed at 12:30 today noon. Judge Henry F. Steele was attorney for Mr. Crofoot and Attorneys Miller & Reers represented Mr. Murphy. WARREN V. REED DIES IN CHICAGO

We told Dr. McClary to see that Mr. Reed had every attention and that we communicate with Mrs. Reed at Rhinelander, which please do by telephone.

Yours truly,

W. A. NAYLOR, Manager.

R. S.—Since telephoning you and writing the foregoing, Dr. McClary of the hospital, at 3:15 p. m. advised that Mr. Reed had passed away. Asst. Gen. Agent Whittle, Chicago, very kindly volunteered to attend the coroner's inquest, he being personally acquainted with Mr. Hoffman, the coroner. We will look after the remains and forward them to Rhinelander, as per request, just as soon as possible and also advise Mrs. Reed by telegraph on what train they leave.

Warren V. Reed was born in Sheboygan county, Wis., in 1852. He spent his boyhood in that locality and when a young man entered the express business. Seventeen years ago last September he was placed in charge of the American Express Company's office in this city and had held the position continuously since. In 1894 he was married to Miss Edna Dunn of this city, who survives him together with four daughters, namely, Maxine, Margaret, Helen and Phyllis. He also leaves three sisters and two brothers. They are Mrs. William Foster of Milwaukee, Mrs. Chas. Volquarts of Plymouth, Mrs. Walter Gerstene of Sheffield, Eng., Frank Reed of Ironwood, Mich., and Stephen Reed of the town of Pine Lake, this county.

Mr. Reed was a true friend, a kind husband and father and a good citizen. He was interested in all public matters pertaining to the betterment of the community and had a keen insight to political affairs, county state and national. He was a deep thinker, possessed a kind heart, and his friends were legion. As an employee of the American Express company he was ever painstaking and faithful and was regarded by the officials as one of their most valued men. Mr. Reed's death is a real loss to this city.

Haydn and Church Music.

Carpani, the poet, once asked his friend, Haydn, "how it happened that his church music was almost always of an animating, cheerful and even gay description." To this Haydn's answer was: "I cannot make it otherwise. I write according to the thoughts which I feel. When I think upon God my heart is so full of joy that the notes dance and leap, as it were, from my pen, and since God has given me a cheerful heart, it will be easily forgiven me that I serve him with a cheerful spirit."

HELPING THE FARMERS

Mr. H. L. Russell, Dean and Director, College of Agriculture, Madison, Wis.

Dear Sir:

We write to thank you for your letter of information of Jan. 14, and desire to say that we have sent for the publications, as suggested. Some time ago the officers of this bank decided on a course of action for the purpose of encouraging agriculture, dairying, and stock raising amongst the farmers in this vicinity and we are arranging, among other things, for the placing of what might be termed an information table in our lobby, and on which we will aim to keep on file any farm bulletins that may be of interest to our farmers and eventually be beneficial to the public welfare. We find that some of our farmers apply for and get these bulletins, but the majority do not know that they are to be had or where to make application. We are therefore writing to ask that you send us one each of your bulletins and circulars for our files as per list enclosed in yours of the 14th.

Any extra expense in the matter we will be pleased to forward our draft to cover.

Yours respectfully,
State Bank of Three Lakes, Clark J. Kinney, President.

GENERAL FARM NOTES

Late weeds make fine seeds.

Sprouts sap the life of the tree.

Nearly every weed seed will grow if given time.

Plow up the fall crop of weeds and save work next year.

Don't strip off the leaves—they are the lungs of the plant.

Thin overloaded grapevines by plucking the poorest bunches. Tie the young shoots to the trellis.

Keep the bung out of the vinegar barrel, but have a bit of wire screen over the opening to guard against things that may fall.

Plow up the empty garden and sow turnips and spinach and transplant cabbage, beets, celery, lettuce, cauliflower, etc. Keep busy.

There are some of those roosters left yet, in spite of everything. Get them out and sell them right off. They are eating their heads off and you will never get half your money back.

Hang a good thermometer in the cellar. Look at it now and then when the mercury is shivering down toward zero. But it is all right to keep the temperature as nearly down to freezing as you can and not have it get the start of you.

Polite Music Teacher.
"How do you like your new music master?" "He is a very nice, polite young man. When I made a mistake yesterday he said: 'Pray, madam, selle, why do you take so much pains to improve upon Beethoven?'—Le Figaro.

Mind Always Above Fortune.
The mind is above fortune; if it be evil, it makes everything else so too; but if it be right and sincere, it corrects what is wrong, and mollifies what is hard, with modesty and courage.—Seneca.

The enrollment in the Training School proper is about 12 per cent greater than it was last year at this time.

What I think will prove the most valuable addition ever made to this school is the model department started with the beginning of the present school year. Not only have we had but little trouble to obtain the desired number of children, but we have been able to establish a waiting list. The value of this department is already apparent in saving our students time and in allowing us to have much closer supervision over the practice teaching done by the Senior class. This ought to result in better teachers for our rural schools.

In February the department of Domestic Science will be organized for the girls of the school. Our graduates are now fairly well trained to teach agriculture in the rural schools. After this we shall expect our graduates to go out into the schools ready to teach the girls some things of direct value to them and through them to the country at large.

A considerable amount of money has been spent this year in fitting up these new departments. These improvements are, however, of a permanent character and mean so much for the advancement of rural education in this county that they are wholly justified.

At the meeting of the Principals of Training Schools held a year ago in Madison, a committee was appointed to investigate the courses of study in the Training Schools. It is believed that the entrance requirements are too low and that the time of study required is too short to accomplish as much as ought to be done. This committee, of which the Principal of this school is a member, is at work and will recommend that more severe entrance requirements be made and that the course of study be lengthened. If this can be done the greatest obstacle in the way of complete success will be done away with. This school ought to be ready to increase both entrance requirements and length of course of study at the beginning of next school year.

In closing this report I wish to thank the Board for their kindly counsels and the newspapers of the city for the free use of their columns. Respectfully submitted,
B. MACK DRESDEY
Principal.

Report Of County Representative, W. D. JUDAY

To The Oneida County Board Of Agriculture:

Gentlemen:

Since February 1, 1914, the county representative has written 973 letters.

On the trial plots at the fair grounds pure bred Green Mountain potatoes and Wm. No. 8 corn were grown for distribution among the farmers, who want to get a start in pure seed. Clover, alfalfa, and soy beans were also grown to demonstrate the proper cultural methods for each.

The County Representative taught agriculture to 23 girls in the Training school for ten weeks and conducted an eight weeks boys' short course with an attendance of 11.

Five demonstration spray plots and four commercial fertilizer plots were carried on the results of which will be given to the farmers at meetings held during the winter months.

Forty-one silos have been built in the county this season and next year will see as many more.

Recommendation

There are now more than 600 farmers in the county and the nature of the Agricultural Representative's work will not permit of his visiting more than a third of this number this year. He will call upon as many as possible as far as possible but he suggests that any farmer wishing service either call on him or write. It is his plan to work next year as far as possible with men whom he has not been able to help this year. It should always be his desire to help the most people in the best way.

The Out of Doors Man

The fellow with the big tough muscles, who can chop trees all day and lift the butt end of a hard log, is a hearty liver in everything he tackles. He likes his tobacco rich, mellow and full of natural flavor, for a cool, fragrant pipe-smoke. He uses

STANDARD

Long Cut Tobacco

because it's got the right stuff in it.

Satisfaction—for a sturdy man—can come from real tobacco only. Insipid mixtures don't appeal to a man with real tobacco hunger.

STANDARD is pure Kentucky leaf, with the "body" for a real smoke, yet rich and pleasing. It takes three to five years to age the tobacco in STANDARD; the process can't be hurried. That's the reason STANDARD is so ripe and mellow.

STANDARD will "make good" the very first time you smoke it. But if you want to prove that STANDARD satisfaction isn't a "flash in the pan" give STANDARD a week's trial. Then you'll know that STANDARD always satisfies, and you'll always keep on using it.

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

ters, held 315 conferences with farmers, made 301 farm visits, held 21 farmers' meetings with an attendance of 793 and has done personal service for 103 farmers.

In the way of personal service he has tested 84 samples of milk, 70 samples of cream, and 13 samples of skim milk for butter fat, distributed two car loads of lime among the farmers at cost, put in 23 pairs of milk scales, helped set up forms for six concrete silos, and purchased six pure bred animals, three of which were Guernsey heifers.

Last spring the county was organized into community potato growing associations, with the idea of getting the farmers to grow potatoes free from disease and variety mixtures. As a result 17 farmers from this county applied for state inspection of their potato fields, and a much greater number will apply next year.
